Mom and Dad,

Look. I know you said concerts were filled with hippies and people who file questionable tax returns, but Middle of the Map is coming. And I really want to go. I know you're going to put up a fight, so let me run you through a scenario where you let me go.

The house is quiet.

There's no music blaring. No TV screaming.

The weird smell from my room is still there, but you close the door. It's contained.

You put some Kenny G on the speakers that I taught you how to control with your phone.

The blue app, Dad. Third screen over.

There you go.

You pour each other a glass of wine.

And you fall asleep fifteen minutes into Season 1 of Breaking Bad.

Sounds amazing right? I'll be home by 10... ish
